ABOUT US

Renowned as one of London's finest florists, creativity, quality and passion are the values that have grown to become our signature. We're hugely proud of the relationships we've cultivated over the past 30+ years and our expertise and imaginative ethos consistently sees Lavender Green Flowers produce work for the country's top galleries, museums and historic houses. From weddings and receptions to private parties and corporate events, our thoughtfully crafted arrangements and installations take inspiration from the latest trends in floristry, fashion and art.

Our talented team of highly trained florists and designers are led by Creative Director, Sue Barnes, and good friend, Colin Gray. With every commission, no matter the scale or budget, we always strive to surpass expectation with our flawless service and friendly, down to earth approach. Whether you're drawn to a sophisticated, contemporary look or prefer flowers with a more traditional feel, we work together to understand your vision and bring it to life with sketches and mood boards that give each of our customers peace of mind that the floral designs we create will capture the perfect composition of beauty, colour, texture and form.

OUR PROPOSALS

Whether it's bespoke floral commissions for an intimate celebration, a drinks reception, a product launch or a party with a growing guest list, at Lavender Green Flowers we focus on one thing – exceeding our clients' expectations. For our friendly team of skilled florists, designers and production professionals, this commitment means providing a flawless service from start to finish. Creating mood boards for proposed concepts, preparing quotations with a variety of budget options, sourcing flowers and foliage of the highest quality, crafting imaginative designs that are beautifully presented and a slick installation that runs like clockwork (even those exacting event schedules that seem nail-bitingly tight); these are all second nature to us. Our passion and reputation for excellence means we partner with the country's most iconic venues on events big and small for a diverse range of discerning clients who trust Lavender Green Flowers to deliver above and beyond the brief, time after time.

FOR THE LOVE OF FLOWERS

The ambience was further enriched through intimate private dinners, providing an opportunity for friends, colleagues, and clients to immerse themselves in all the experience had to offer. The purpose was to ignite inspiration, presenting the limitless potential of floral artistry and the transformative capacity of sustainable floristry in any environment. "For The Love of Flowers" masterfully intertwined nature, art, and sustainability in a truly captivating manner.

Over five captivating days, Lavender Green Flowers unveiled "For The Love of Flowers," a showcase of our brand's creativity and passion. Esteemed guests, including clients, corporate partners, and the public, were transported from city life. Everywhere, vibrant English meadow flowers bloomed, a lavender-scented living wall enchanted, and mirrored ceilings amplified displays.

OUR DONATIONS

As part of our ongoing pledge to reduce our wastage and become more sustainable in our business practice, any designs that you do not wish to keep are taken back to our warehouse in Windsor post-event, and donated to our network of local charities and organisations. This prevents flowers being wasted and instead gives them a second purpose which supports the local community, spreading joy, wellness and education.

Already in 2023 with donations alone, we have collectively raised over £14,389 for a range of charities and organisations that help support the local community. All suitable flowers are gifted to local Hospices to either be used to decorate bedrooms and communal spaces or for flower arranging workshops, the flowers have been used in schools for biology lessons, as activity sessions for toddlers, made into bouquets to thank teachers or sold by PTA's to raise important funds. They are often used to brighten up local community hub spaces, gifted to new families who have arrived in the area having fled domestic violence and given to our elderly neighbours who live in sheltered housing. It is not only fantastic to be able to support so many people, but as a direct result of this service, our waste has reduced by 70%, meaning that our carbon footprint has also reduced dramatically, helping our pledge to become carbon neutral by the end of 2024. This service is totally free of charge and we aim to let you know where your flowers went within a few days.

If you are concerned about event waste, this provides a method to ensure that you can still hold the perfect experience for clients, employees or stakeholders, whilst still being mindful about the social and environmental impact. Any waste that cannot be donated is collected into our green waste bins and composted to make natural fertiliser.

SOME OF THE CHARITIES WE HAVE HAD THE PLEASURE OF WORKING WITH

CASE STUDY 01

To mirror the gallery's striking architecture, the floral arrangements were designed to exude a sense of untamed abundance. A rich assortment of exquisite seasonal blooms and diverse foliage came together to present British springtime in its most splendid form, perfectly aligned with the celebration of International Women's Day. Vibrant shades of yellow, lime green, pinks, peach, and oranges harmoniously complemented the venue's existing tones, creating a captivating and harmonious atmosphere.

CASE STUDY 02

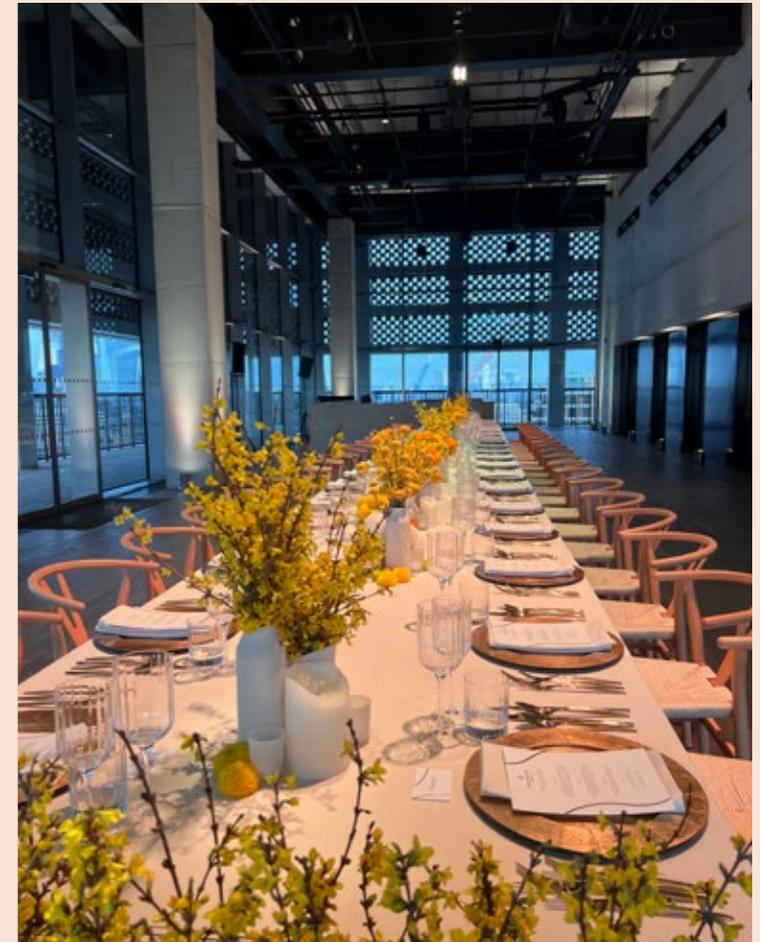

Commemorating a 70th anniversary at the Natural History Museum, guests relished a drinks reception in Fossil Way. This led to immersive food stations and performances in Hintze Hall, all set against a vintage circus theme. A captivating array of intriguing blooms was artfully intertwined with an assortment of eye-catching props, creating an enchanting visual spectacle that perfectly captured the essence of the theme.

CASE STUDY 03

Crafting a modern aesthetic for an upscale dinner hosted at the Tate Modern on behalf of a luxury watch brand, we curated a striking tablescape. The dynamic use of a vibrant yellow colour palette took centre stage, featuring single varieties meticulously arranged on mass, elegantly cascading down the table's centre. This design fusion resulted in a sleek, contemporary ambiance with a distinctive touch of masculinity.

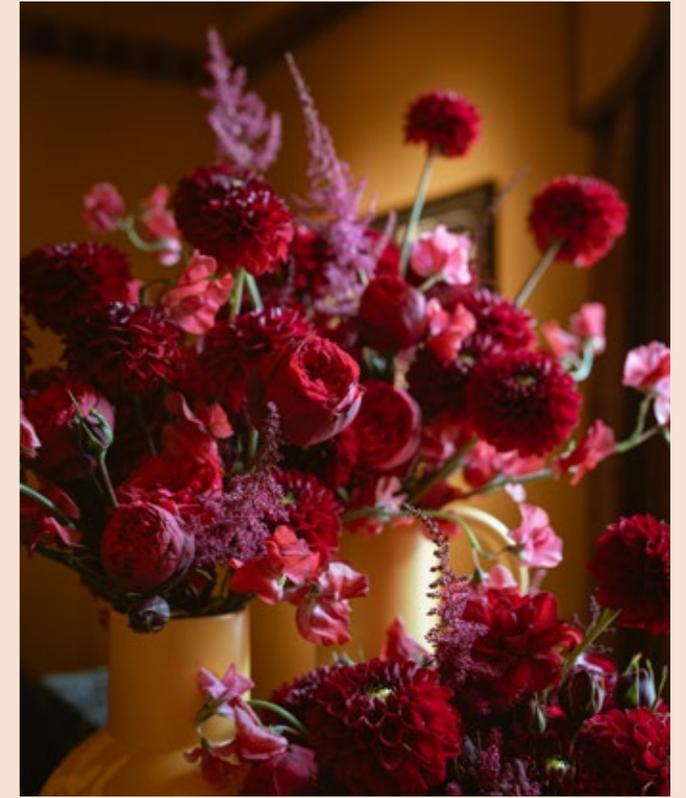

CASE STUDY 04

Statement floral designs for the opening of the 2023 Serpentine Pavilion. We designed a beautiful canopy arrangement over the central bar, overflowing with seasonal florals, alongside further statement designs for the entrance, the bars and to dress the space. The florals were bright and colourful to represent the natural beauty of summer, with inclusion of florals with links to France and Lebanon to reflect the Lina Ghotmeh's architectural design influences.

CASE STUDY 05

For a stylish and bold aesthetic reminiscent of McDonald's, we curated a captivating design featuring a dominant presence of red blooms such as Dahlias, Astilbe, Peonies, Sweet Peas, and Garden Spray Roses. These vibrant florals were artfully juxtaposed against contemporary yellow accents, creating a dynamic interplay of colours. To further enhance the visual impact, we introduced touches of yellow Craspedia arranged in striking contrast to red bud vases, elevating the overall composition.
